THE PRUSSIAN LINE OF ATTACK. Paris, September 17.—The Prussians are still numerous near Ville Neuve, Daminarton and LaPlasis. A force of 3000 men has occupied Villais-Catherets and there are ten thousand at Nantsuil. It is believed that the Prussian line of attack will be from the east by way of PARIS, September 17.—A grand republican demonstration has recently occurred at Marseilles. Esquires made a strong discourse in honor or the United States, asserting that the Empire was the friend of Southern rebellion, and that the French Republicans favored the Union. Price, the American consul, also made a speech in sympathy with the new government. CONDITION OF STRASBOURG.

SAPETY OF PRENCH SEA PORTS.

PARIS, September 17.—There is a more hopeful feeling in Paris to-day from the announcement that Lord Lyons has gone PARIS EEING GRADUALLY SHUT OUT FROM

New York, September 17.—The follow-ing is a cable special to the Tribune: Losnon, September 16.—Up to 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, M. Thiera had sub-mitted no other tangible proposal to the British government than that the neutral ould simultaneously exert their ction, but Gladstone thought that such an effort was sure to be misunder-stood. It would appear like a league against Prussia, and was a measure not to the adopted unless the parties thereto were ready to support their representations by rorse, if they were not accepted; views which, of course, involved the total rejection of Thiers' proposal. Thiers' purpose was to siarm England, by declaring before his arrival, the French government, which does not conceal from the English cabines its anxious desire for an armistice, had besought Earl Graville to transmit to Prussian needquariers certain overtures tending to negotiations of specified terms. The answer received from Prussian takes the form of two questions. First, supposing terms of armistice are agreed upon between you and us, can you undertake that the French army will abide by them—meaning by the French army, all the forces under Bazaino in Strasbourg, the army of Lyons, and all other cryanications. Second, supposing the army accepts, will the gation?

M. Favre rupiled: "We undertake to answer for the army as for the nation. We will convoke a Constituent Assembly in the shortest possible time—a forthight at the most—submit the conditions to that Assembly, which should be free to appress the nations will be a rupic our powers into its hands. If such assembly accepts and ratiges our racing our powers into its hands. If such assembly accepts and ratiges our powers into its hands. If such assembly accepts and ratiges our powers into its hands. If such assembly accepts and ratiges our powers into its hands. If such assembly accepts and ratiges our powers into its hands. If such assembly accepts and ratiges our powers into its hands. If such assembly accepts and ratiges our powers are the maintain a blockade of the enemy's ports. Such service led us in hidden to a deal proposed to the conditions of the promise has been broken in both instances, and the fleet left to its of the til racce came off at Loxington to day. A large crowd was present. The first race was for the Congress stake, four nile heats—the club to add the $1000, which was easily won by Morgan Scout, bearing Carrie Atherton. The following assembly accepts and ratifies our acts, that will be a full gourantee to Prussia." Obviously this answer admits that the provisional government cannot give any guarantee, which, even if fol-lowed by an immediate armistice, might not be repealed by the Assembly. Prussia's reply, however, is awaited, and meantime an attempt is making to bring about a personal interview between to any case, it does not extend beyond nego tlations for peace, leaving France to de lile her own destinies hereafter. cide her own destinies hereafter.

Persons in close relations with Bismarek insist strongly that he holds very different views, and that in negotiations for pasce he will not discuss technical questions, nor ask by what title any French government holds power, provided it can guarantee the execution of the terms of ace to which it agrees. BISMARCK'S IDEA.

London, September 17.—Bavaria has repudiated any desire to enter the North repudiated any district of the class of a con-derman Confederation.

The Standard's correspondent writing from Berlin gives the substance of a con-versation recently held with Count Von Bismarck. The latter affirmed that Prusde would prosecute the war indefinit rather than abandon the idea of territorial aggrandizement.

IN THE INTEREST OF HUMANITY. London, September 17.—The Economist has a strong article in favor of peace.

"The very object of the war," the article says, "was to sustain the principle of German unity against the objections of France. That object is now attained and mankind should interpose to save Paris, and then agree that no great city shall hereafter be fortified."

PRENCH GOVERNMENT AT TOURS.
TOURS, September 17.—The fort at Vincenes was blown up yesterday and destroyed by the French, the position being a bad one. It is understood that several minor engagements took place outside the fortifications yesterday. The Constitutional factions of Greeke de France and some other journals which were heretofore printed in Paris will appear in this city after to-day. Cremeux, the Minister of Justice, is lodged here at the residence of the Archibishop. There is a perfect understanding between them, which is considered as a foreshandowing of a union of all political parties for a national defense.

Advices received at the War Department and which is considered as a foreshandowing of a union of all political parties for a national defense.

Advices received at the War Department show that numbers of French are immigrating to Bordeaux, and telegrams state that great activity exists there. A Committee of Defense is being enrolled, A large force has collected there and in the surrounding departments.

that a general Republican movement was imminent throughout increpe, and was only to be repressed by the strengthening brance. On the advice of friends, however, he abstained from addressing this menace to the English government.

It is absolutely true, as before telegraphed you, that Thiers is here without instructions or credentials, or the power of offering any guarantee on the part of France. Independently of Thiers, and lefter his arrival, the French government, which does not conceal from the Eoglish cabinet its anxious desire for an armistice, had besought Earl Granville to many content of the cause of the cause of firms and desire of the cause of france. As to the supposed purposes of Prussia, to treat with the Regency for peace, as telegraphed by the Berlin correspondent, he writes by post that his information comes direct from the Berlin Foreign office. From other information, I presume it to be the view held and arged by the Torv party at Berlin, that court faction which does not share Bismarck's views, but which has always exchaled iderable influence over the King.
